THE NEW

hollywood royalty

Move over Hilary! In case you haven't noticed, there are loads of new girls on the entertainment scene, and they're making a major splash. Take a look at who's set to be the next bright stars in Tinseltown. (P.S. Don't worry, Hil, we still love ya!)

MILEY CYRUS

ROCKIN' RESUME: Aside from being our cover girl (and we like to think that's pretty impressive), Miley has the ability to crack us up and get us dancing as the star of the hit show Hannah Montana on Disney Channel.

BEST FRIENDS FOREVER: "Oh my gosh, I was missing my best friend Leslie so bad. [She flew out from Tennessee] and stayed with me for four or five days. I was so glad she was there for the first big concert I did because it was something we could do together. I was like, 'Help me, Leslie!' [We] had so much fun."

A full-body photograph of Miley Cyrus. She is wearing a maroon long-sleeved top under a light-colored, knee-length dress with a dark polka-dot pattern and a ruffled hem. She is also wearing dark leggings and white high-heeled sandals. She is smiling and looking towards the camera.

Between her dual roles on the popular show Hannah Montana, singing on a soon-to-be-released soundtrack as the fictitious pop star (in music stores in October) and recording her very own solo CD (planned for 2007), it's hard to keep track of this 13-year-old and her many alter egos.

When Miley showed up to our early morning photo shoot, she looked a lot like her TV alias Miley Stewart, comfy in sweats and snacking on watermelon—no rockin' blonde Hannah Montana wig to be found. She quickly dove into the racks of clothes, admitting she's a bit of a shopaholic, but loves finding great deals. "I don't always go for clothes that are the most expensive. It doesn't matter how little something costs," she said. "I [recently] got $6 shoes and I was like, 'Yeah!'"

Throughout the day we definitely saw how cool and down-to-earth the real Miley is: She prefers fast food to fancy catering; loves Gummy Bears; and continues to crush on Ryan Cabrera. She even gets a bit starstruck—bet you'll never guess by whom!

"I freaked out when [I met] Judge Judy," Miley confessed. "She's my idol! I was like, 'Oh my goodness, what do I say to her? I'm so nervous! What if she thinks I'm so weird?' But she was the nicest lady ever and her grandkids love [my] show. So I'm like, 'I'm friends with Judge Judy. How cool!' Now I know if I get in any trouble, she's got my back!"

Of course, now that Miley has a hit show on her hands, Judge Judy isn't the only one who's got her back—so do a legion of admirers who adore the talented actress/songstress. What Miley really wants her fans to know, though, is that she's there for them, too. "I've had fans who are really intimidated to come up and talk to me," she says. "I just want them to know that I'm totally open and I'm there to be their friend."
